

Rules and timetable of the competition

Who can participate?

The competition is open to all students. Participants can come from different faculties or universities (even within the same team). Individuals and teams with a maximum of 6 members can participate.

Prizes for the winning teams

The team in the first place will receive a cash prize of 10 000 CZK. The second place will be awarded 6,000 CZK and the third place will be awarded 4,000 CZK. In addition, the participating teams will receive material prizes from the faculty.

What should the project look like?

When creating the design, teams should follow the rules specified in the manual attached to this page. One of the important criteria for evaluating projects is how the students manage the budget of 100 000 CZK. The budget should include all the equipment of the Chill Room, but possible construction modifications do not need to be quantified. Participants can use the model project as an inspiration, which was created by the Student Chamber of the Academic Senate of ECON MU. The originality and creativity of the design will be highly valued. The actual format of the project is therefore left to the teams (presentation, zip file, pdf document, video,...). The project should include the name of the team and the names of the students who participated in it.

Design manual and a model project

The students are encouraged to read through the above mentioned materials, namely the design manual and the model project before creating their own projects. They can follow the steps in the manual and use the model project for inspiration. Both documents can be downloaded in the appendix at the end of this article.

Timetable of the competition

Teams can work on their projects until 4.4.2022.

Teams registration

Registration is open until 20.3.2022. Participants can register their team via the following form. In doing so they express their interest to take part in the competition. During the registration process, it is not necessary to submit a finished project. If an individual is participating, the participant must be a student of at least one program at ECON MU. Evaluation of the competition and announcement of the winners

The announcement of the results is planned for early May 2022. The specific dates and voting method will be specified in the following weeks.

The faculty reserves the right to modify the winning design if necessary. If any of the competition rules are violated, the organizers reserve the right to remove the team or the individual from the competition.
